

Accessible Communication: Everyone Included

Accessible communication means creating content that everyone can use, understand and engage with. It removes barriers and ensures that First Peoples with disability can access their rights, culture, and community equally.

Why it Matters

- It's a human right under the UNCRPD
- It reflects our values of equity, inclusion and cultural safety
- It challenges racism, ableism and systemic exclusion

“Accessibility isn’t a feature, it’s a responsibility.” – FPDN

Who Benefits?

People with disability

Elders

Mob in remote or regional communities

English not our first language

Acknowledgement This work was supported by the National Indigenous Australians Agency (NIAA) through funding provided as part of the National Disability Footprint, under the Disability Sector Strengthening Plan (DSSP). We acknowledge NIAA as a key partner in enabling the development of these resources.

© Artwork by Uncle Paul Calcott

FPDN's work is guided by the UNCRPD and UNDRIP and supported by Australian laws, including the Disability Discrimination Act 1992.

Accessible Communications & Engagement Guidelines | What Is Accessible Communication?